Can I still integrate with different brands of access control systems?

exacqVision integrates with a variety of access control systems if you chose to implement another access control system. EntraPass software is compatible with Kantech's complete line of door controllers to create a highly scalable solution that can be deployed within one building or across multiple locations. For more information, go to Kantech Controllers.