exacqVision SDK Compatibility with exacqVision Server Versions

The exacqVision SDK is designed to be compatible with all versions of exacqVision Server. However, individual features in certain versions of the server and SDK might not be compatible. For more details about the features available in a each version of the server or SDK, see the readme.txt file available in their install packages.

It is recommended that you use the newest version of the SDK for compatibility with the most complete set of exacqVision Server's features and enhancements.